About Larry Tracey

From studying for the priesthood to being part of the pit crew for Evel Knievel, Larry Tracey has risen to the top learning hard lessons on what he calls a road of "personal destruction." Those valuable life experiences propelled him on a road of "personal construction" where he discovered the importance of developing one's character, embracing the core values of integrity, quality and passion and practicing the principles of success.

Larry is a former classroom teacher, past outreach coordinator for at-risk youth, addictions counselor, author and father of three. He now specializes in teaching people how to "Plant Seeds of Success" in others and in themselves.

He is one of Toastmasters International top speakers and a two-time semifinalist in The World Championship of Public Speaking. People find his keynotes and training style very genuine, inspirational and empowering. Larry is founder of Youth4Youth. www.youth4youth.org
